DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The substitute specification filed 3/17/2005 has not been entered because it does not conform to 37 CFR 1.125(b) and (c) because: the substitute specification represents a significant change in the scope of the originally presented invention (as the current title discloses, the original invention was a “centripetal linear and rotary propulsion device”, wherein now applicant endeavors to change it to an “apparatus of receiving an input force”). Such a fundamental change in scope could only be achieved by a continuation-in-part application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-4 and 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. As discussed in the above specification rejection, the change in specification and the scope of the claim language represents a fundamental change in understanding of the invention; so much so that it constitutes a new matter rejection on claims 1-4 and 6-9 and the claims will be considered as they were previously filed in the RCE of 12/3/2004.

Claim 1-4 and 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. As the invention is a space machine, and violates the laws of physics, applicant has not described the invention in such a way as enable its function.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-4 and 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear how the invention, as claimed, can generate a force, as it appears the net force output would be zero.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-4 and 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the disclosed invention is inoperative and therefore lacks utility. The claims violate Newton's third law which states "when two particles exert forces on each other, these forces are equal in magnitude, opposite in direct, and collinear". The claims are drawn to a machine, which claims to generate a force without an equal and opposite force. The disclosed invention will not generate a force, which will drive a vehicle. The movement of one mass outward in the arc will be balance to a corresponding weight returning to the rotating drum.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 3/17/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that since the disclosure no longer specifies an invention that creates a propulsion, that the application is allowable. However, the since the significant changes in the specification and claim limitations constitutes new matter, said changes are not admissible and therefore the application is not allowable at this time. It appears a continuation-in-part would be required to allow for the new amendments. Furthermore, the specification must be mindful any language (reference to propulsion devices in the specification, abstract, or title) that would even subtly imply a propulsion device may uphold the above rejections, as the claim interpretation must be consistent with the specification. MPEP 2111.

FACSIMILE TRANSMISSION

Submission of your response by facsimile transmission is encouraged. Group 3600's facsimile number is (703) 305-3597. Recognizing the fact that reducing cycle time in the processing and examination of patent applications will effectively increase a patent's term, it is to your benefit to submit responses by facsimile transmission whenever permissible. Such submission will place the response directly in our examining group's hands and will eliminate

Post Office processing and delivery time as well as the PTO's mail room processing and delivery time. For a complete list of correspondence not permitted by facsimile transmission, see MEP.

502.01. In general, most responses and/or amendments not requiring a fee, as well as those requiring a fee but charging such fee to a deposit account, can be submitted by facsimile transmission. Responses requiring a fee which applicant is paying by check should not be submitting by facsimile transmission separately from the check.

Responses submitted by facsimile transmission should include a Certificate of Transmission (MEP. 512). The following is an example of the format the certification might take:

I hereby certify that this correspondence is being facsimile transmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office (Fax No. (703) 872-9306) on _____

Typed or printed name of person signing this certificate:

_____

(Signature)

If your response is submitted by facsimile transmission, you are hereby reminded that the original should be retained as evidence of authenticity (37 CFR 1.4 and MEP. 502.02). Please do not separately mail the original or another copy unless required by the Patent and Trademark

Art Unit: 3682

Office. Submission of the original response or a follow-up copy of the response after your response has been transmitted by facsimile will only cause further unnecessary delays in the processing of your application; duplicate responses where fees are charged to a deposit account may result in those fees being charged twice.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
